PRIMARY CURRICULUM PRINCIPLES

- A curriculum for basic education, which aims to develop children to have knowledge, skills, desirable attitudes, competencies and morals.
- A learner-centred curriculum which equips students with valuable experiences, which they can positively apply to improve their lives.
- A curriculum which is readily accessible and promotes greater educational equality for all children in the community.
- A flexible curriculum structure which readily adapts and supports personalised teaching and learning demands in real-time.
- A curriculum which supports and encourages family engagement in their child's learning journey, both academically and emotionally.
- A curriculum design with a diverse set of assessment opportunities built-in, providing valuable progression diagnostics for continual learner improvement, extension and support.
- A curriculum which nurtures a passion and understanding of lifelong learning, from a young age, as a means for personal improvement, throughout life.
